

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: How much home can I afford?

A: Use our online calculators at tvacreditunion.com/calculators to determine your mortgage payment or plug in different values to show how different scenarios can affect your mortgage payment.

Q: How much of a down payment do I need?

A: That depends on which home loan you get! Some loan types, such as a VA or USDA, can have $0.00 down payment options. But for most home loans, you'll want at least 3.00 - 5.00% of the purchase price saved for your down payment.

Q: How do I know which home loan is right for me?

A: Don't fret; this is where we can help! Your home loan officer will evaluate your situation and help you find the best home loan that fits your needs.

Q: Where can I find your rates?

A: Visit tvacreditunion.com/rates/home-loan-rates to view the most up-to-date rates.

Q: What is a credit score?

A: Think of your credit score as your report card on how well you pay on time. It allows others to know if you can pay bills on time and repay debts or loans consistently. It tells a lender you can handle your finances responsibly. It's typically a three-digit number ranging between 300-850.

Q: How does credit impact my housing options?

A: Your credit score impacts what loan options are available to you as well as the rate you receive. Curious what your score is? Check your credit score for FREE! To access this Member perk, just log in to online or mobile banking!

Q: What is PMI, and do I really have to pay it?

A: PMI stands for Private Mortgage Insurance. Anytime you purchase a house with less than a 20.00% down payment, PMI is added as extra protection to the lender. However, our in-house loans forgo PMI (a special Member Perk just for you)!

Home Equity & Improvement

Whether you need to consolidate debt, facing unexpected expenses, or simply need some extra cash on hand, a Home Equity Loan or Home Equity Line-of-Credit may be able to help.

 Home Equity Loan
Often called a second mortgage, a Home Equity Loan is great when handling major expenses. Sometimes, having flexible funds can come in handy. If you have large one-time purchases like tuition, renovations, improvements, or medical expenses, a home equity loan can help you cover it.

 Home Equity Line-of-Credit (HELOC)
Enjoy the convenience of cash when you need it most. A HELOC is great for consolidating recurring loan payments, such as college bills and high-interest credit cards. When obtaining a HELOC, your home is used as collateral.

You'll be approved for a certain amount of money, which will be repaid within a designated time-frame. During that time, you'll only be accountable for the money you actually spend, not the amount you're approved for. This is perfect for projects where the total is not defined, so you're able to use as much or as little as you like.

Refinance

Love your home but wish you could lower your monthly mortgage payment with a better rate? Then refinancing your home loan may be an option for you. At Knoxville TVA Employees Credit Union, we aim to get you the lowest rate possible.
